Families of Australia

Visit eight-year-old Phoebe on her family's farm near Attunga, a town northwest of Sydney, as she gathers eggs for breakfast, rounds up sheep, enjoys Sports Day at school and takes a violin lesson after school.

Seven-year-old Josh lives in Sydney, Australia's largest city. Follow Josh as he takes care of the pet chickens, goes to school, visits his grandparents and makes a chain of volcanoes from an egg carton.

Families of Brazil

Luca and his family live in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil. Luca and his brother love soccer, Brazil's national sport, and they watch their Dad's amateur team play and practice. We meet Luca's grandparents, who take care of Luca and his brother after school, and visit the statue of Christ, high above the city of Rio de Janeiro.

Louisa lives on their family farm in the rolling countryside inland from Rio, where her father grows vegetables and raises cattle. Louisa's mother drives the children each day to their school in the nearest city 50 miles away, where she teaches ballet. When they're home, the children entertain themselves by roller blading and bicycling, watching TV and playing video games.

Families of Afghanistan - 2011 release

Meet 12-year-old Madina in Kabul and 10-year-old Zamira in a rural village of Afghanistan.

Families of Canada

Seven year old Hannah lives in a province called Nova Scotia and takes two buses and a ferry to school, which is on an island. Watch Hannah's father catch lobsters and her mother at work at a dentist's office. After school Hannah plays with her pets, takes a piano lesson and helps her family prepare dinner.

Eleven year old John lives on the outskirts of Toronto, a major city in Canada. Spend Thanksgiving with John and his family. Everyone takes a vacation from school and work to share a big turkey dinner on this national holiday. We see John and his brothers rake their grandparents' yard, practice with their band, and go to school, where John takes French, one of Canada's national languages.

Families of China

Nine-year-old Qinbo and her family live in Ningbo, a port city in China. We see Qinbo's father prepare breakfast and bike to work, follow her mother to work on a motor bike, and go to school with Qinbo on a public bus. We take a peek at students' after-school activities.

Kun's mother and father grow bonsai in the mountains around their village near Ningbo. We follow Kun as he walks a half-hour to his school, watch the cook steam lunches the students have brought from home, see how Kun's father trains bonsai plants, visit the village's open market with Kun's mother and watch her prepare a meal for the family and Kun's grandparents.

Families of Costa Rica

Ten-year-old Estibaliz lives in Cabuya. Follow her to school, and be part of her classes. Visit her parents at work. After school, watch Estibaliz do her chores and study with her mother. The next day, walk with her to a nearby island during low tide, and later in the evening attend an exciting soccer game, followed by a fun-filled community dance.

José, a ten-year-old boy, lives in Escazu near the capital of San Jose with his parents and 3-year-old brother.

Accompany José to school where he conducts experiments and practices soccer, take in the colorful local market with his mother, and visit the family as they eat sushi made by the family's housekeeper.

Families of Egypt

Six year old Hesham lives in Luxor, famous for its Temples of Karnak. His father supervises workers who maintain and restore one of the largest tombs in Valley of the Kings. Hesham attends a big celebration for the one-week birthday of his baby brother. Later, Hesham and his father pray together, and have a picnic on a boat with the other children.

Seven year old Yasmine and her brother live near Cairo. Yasmine goes to an international school where classes are taught in English, and she takes French and Arabic. She loves her ballet class and tennis lessons. The families goes to a birthday party for Yasmine's friend and the family has lunch with grandparents.

Families of France

In Lyon, France, we visit 10 year old Emilien. His father, a laboratory technician, tests washing machines, and his mother is a professional musician. Viewers see Emilien and his two sisters at both their mother's and father's apartments, at school, playing basketball, swimming, and accompanying their father to his Aikido lesson. Amazingly, there's still time for a fun sing-along with their cousins.

In Beaujolais, meet 9 year old Camille, whose family runs a vineyard and winery. We see the sumptuous school meal prepared by a nearby restaurant, hear students recite Moliere, visit the vineyards and a local bakery, accompany Camille to her riding lesson and join the family celebration of Three Kings Day.

Families of Ghana

Deborah lives with twelve extended family members in a family compound in a rural village in southern Ghana. The 8-year-old is up at 5:30 in the morning to finish washing dishes, sweeping, and carrying water before she leaves for school. After school, she and her sisters make fufu, her father's favorite food, and we visit the colorful local market.

In Accra, Ghana's capital, ten-year-old Emmanuel lives with his sister, mother, father and aunt. We follow him to school and to a funeral where he serves as an altar boy. We see colorful coffins in shapes that are meaningful to the person who has died, such as a fish for a fisherman, a banana for a farmer, and an airplane for someone who always wanted to fly.

Families of Guatemala

Mariaelena is seven years old and lives on a farm in the mountains of Guatemala with her parents, her brother and sister and her grandmother. Watch how they roast coffee, shell macadamia nuts and milk cows.

Nine-year-old Jorge lives in the city of San Marcos with his twin brother and his 8-year-old nephew as well as his parents. See how the boys' band is coming along and share in the Family Day festival at their school.

Families of India

Two families in Jamnagar, Gujarat State in northern India are profiled. We follow 8-year-old Raja as he attends school, plays cricket with his friends and chess with his mother, visits a Hindu temple and takes an evening walk with his parents.

We also see 5-year-old Bavika playing with her many cousins in their family compound, and we visit the family farm, where we see a water buffalo being milked, a woman making breakfast over a fire tended by her 4-year-old son, and a man using oxen to plow a field.

Families of Israel

Visit 9-year-old Inbar and her family at a kibbutz of 60 families in southern Israel. Inbar rolls down a big sand dune, feeds a calf, goes to school, makes her own breakfast and shares a Sabbath meal in the community hall. We visit her mother at work as an art therapist and see how a machine designed by Inbar's father helps keep food from spoiling.

Visit Joad and his two sisters, brother, mother and father... and rabbit—in the ancient city of Jerusalem. With Joad's after school chess and karate classes and his siblings activities, theirs is a busy household. The Sabbath, which Joad and his family celebrate with his grandparents, is their one quiet day of the week.

Families of Japan

8-year-old Ayako lives in Sendai, Japan. Ayako loves to climb trees, play her piano (which can be silenced so that it can only be heard through earphones), and go to calligraphy lessons. We follow Ayako and her mother as they go grocery shopping.

Ten-year-old Seichi lives on a farm near Furukawa, Japan. His family has raised rice there for 14 generations. Seichi and his sisters help feed the rabbits and chickens, watch TV, and go to their cousin's engagement party. We see the schoolteachers and children prepare for Sports Day and watch Seichi and his family enjoy the special holiday.

Families of Kenya (To be released Fall 2010)

11-year-old Prince lives in the city of Nairobi with his older brother and sister and his parents. Follow him to school where we sit in on a science class, then later to a family dinner at a Chinese restaurant.

John is 11 years old and lives on a farm in the south part of Kenya. His parents grow coffee and maize on their farm land. Visit national game refuge where John's cousin is a guide, and see giraffes, lions, and other wild life that seem to ignore their many human visitors.

Families of Korea

Heejin lives in 600-year-old HaHoe village and is learning the village's ancient mask dance that's performed for visitors all summer long. Join Heejin and her father as they visit the local market and stop at a rice paper factory to buy gift wrapping for her grandmother's birthday. There we see how paper is hand-made.

Follow 9-year-old Ki tae in Seoul, the capital of Korea, through a busy day in school and at his many after-school activities. Ki tae's mother shops in the neighborhood open market and supermarket. Watch Ki tae's aunt and his mother make a special dinner and follow his father to the factory that he manages.

Families of Mexico

Families of Mexico documents a family from the port city of Veracruz. Hermaina's father and mother own an advertising agency, which her father manages. We see her mother teach a dance class at the city's cultural center, go food shopping, visit Hermaina's school, and follow her to her swimming lesson.

Eight-year-old Brizia lives with her parents on her grandparents' farm. We visit her school and the surrounding farms owned by her aunts and uncles, who are making tamales, harvesting cactus for salad, and sorting sesame seeds.

More Families of Mexico

Guadalupe is eight years old and lives with her parents and grandparents near the top of a small mountain in the state of Veracruz. The whole village, surrounded by coffee trees, is built on land that used to be part of a large hacienda. Spend a day with Guadalupe as she visits the hacienda and goes to school.

Twelve-year-old Maurice lives in the city of Jalapa, the capital of the state of Veracruz on the Gulf of Mexico.

Join Maurice as he goes to school, takes karate lessons and goes to a birthday party complete with a piñata.

Families of Panama

Juan Diego is nine years old and he lives in Panama City with his parents and grandparents. Join him as he goes to school, a Boy Scout meeting and a Family Day celebration at school. Visit Dad at work as a bank teller and Mom, who is an industrial engineer.

Raisa, a nine-year-old girl, lives in a village on the Pacific Ocean in Panama. See the birds, monkeys, agoutis and sloths that come by her neighborhood to eat. Learn about the famous Panama Canal and visit her school.

Families of Puerto Rico

Nine-year-old Jose and his family in Puerto Rico are closely watching weather reports on an approaching hurricane. We visit his mother, who supervises hurricane preparations, shop for emergency supplies with his father and sister, and visit a school.

Eight-year-old Laura lives on a farm in the mountains of Puerto Rico. Laura's mother does sustainable agriculture, growing bananas and tropical flowers. We see the damage caused to her family's farm by a hurricane a year ago. We visit Laura's father at work at a port company that ships fruits and vegetables, sit in on classes at Laura's bilingual school, and follow the family as they visit the largest radio telescope in the world.

Families of Russia

Join Nicolai, age 10, whose family owns a farm where everyone pitches in and nothing is purchased if it can be made at home. In the village of Retkino we see local craftspeople making bowls and painting them in intricate designs. Nicolai zips around on his little motorcycle, and joins his dad for a soothing "banya" (sauna) before bed.

Anya, age 7, lives in the industrial city Nizhny Novgorod, built hundreds of years ago on the Volga and Oka Rivers. We learn how important education is to Anya and her brother, and see her parents at work. After school, Anya practices gymnastics, and we see her working out on the parallel bars.

Families of Sweden

"Families of Sweden" introduces 5-year-old Evelina, who lives with her brother and parents in Kalmar, Sweden. We visit Evelina's day care, watch her mother as she teaches her class, visit her father as he photographs cell phone cases, and go to Evelina's pony riding lessons and a birthday party.

Then we meet 10-year-old Alex and his family and follow him to school and to swimming lessons. Alex and his brother play computer games, their stepmother and half-sisters follow an exercise tape, and their father makes moose shish kabobs.

Families of Thailand

This program takes us to Bangkok to follow 10-year-old Rakkaet and his family, who live and work on a canal. Rakkaet goes to school by boat, his brother runs a water taxi, his mother does her shopping at the floating market, and his father sells food from his boat to families along the canal. Buddhist monks visit the family's dock each day before dawn to accept food the family has prepared for them.

We also visit 7-year-old Akeem in a community of Sea Gypsies on Thailand's southern coast. We see Akeem's mother caring for her newborn infant, follow Akeem to school, and go fishing with Akeem's father, who catches tropical fish for export.

Families of United Kingdom

Jessica, age 9, lives with her parents, grandmother and two sisters on a large dairy farm in western England. Part of their house is 400 years old, but the family enjoys many modern conveniences. Join Jessica as her school goes on a field trip to the beach.

10-year-old James lives in Bath, which has an ancient heritage as an old Roman outpost. James' family is musical; his father creates scores for television programs and his grandfather is a church bell ringer. James takes piano, clarinet and recorder lessons, and enjoys the music and activities at his church. Viewers can see the family having dinner and visiting a local street fair.

Families of USA

Kyle lives in North Dakota with his parents and three brothers. They farm with his grandparents and several uncles and aunts and their families. We see how they harvest their grain, fix the harvesting machine, and take grain to the storage elevators in the nearby town of about 100 people.

Kristin and her family are African Americans living in Wilmington, Delaware. Her family activities take us to a computer class, basketball practice, dance classes, church services and a Christmas concert, where Kristin plays the flute. We visit her classes at school and her father at work as director of a social service agency and watch her mother teach physical education to elementary school children.

Families of Vietnam

In Vietnam, Anh Thu lives by the Mekong river with her family. She attends school and enjoys spending time with her friends and older brother. Her parents work on their banana and papaya plantation in the morning, then set off on their "boat store," selling groceries to customers out on the river.

In Ho Chi Minh City, nine-year-old Thanh Hong goes to school where she studies French, art and reading and plays games with friends. After school the family enjoys bowling, then Hong does her homework. The next day Thanh Hong enjoys swimming at the community pool and the Vietnamese New Year Tet festivities, including the dragon dancing and fireworks

If the World Were a Village

2009 Parents Choice Silver Award Winner

Based on the best selling and award-winning book by the same title, If the World Were a Village is a 30 minute animated story that delivers an important message using a magical metaphor: what if the world with six billion people were a village of just 100 people...

In this village:

- 22 people speak a Chinese dialect and 9 people speak English
- 20 earn less than a dollar a day
- 32 are of Christian faith
- 39 are under 19 years old.

If the World Were a Village offers a unique and objective resource. By exploring the lives of the 100 villagers, children will discover that life in other nations is often very different from their own. The shrunk-down statistics—some surprising, some shocking—and David Smith's tips on building "world-mindedness" will encourage viewers to embrace the bigger picture and help them to establish their own place in the global village.

Smart Solution for Fun Reading!

Animal Stories

1. Turtle's Flute

Turtle is a gifted flutist. When the Turtle played her flute, everyone danced. One day, she is trapped by a greedy man. How will she escape now?

2. Zippy the Zebra

Zippy is bugged by a hide full of fleas. No amount of tail swishing or tree trunk scratching would give him any relief. Finally a pair of birds help him out by making a meal of his unwelcome guests.

3. The Four Friends

Animal friends work together to outwit a hunter and protect each other! The Four Friends is based on an ancient Indian Fable.

Stories from Around the World

1. The First Well

A magical tale from a kingdom far, far away about how the very first well was created. Watch how an ice seed "grows" to provide water.

2. The Whispering Palms

A charming tale about Mori who lives with her parents in a coconut grove and helps her father fish for food. A dream changes their lives forever and they decide to live in harmony with nature and find alternative methods of earning their living.

3. Elephant Goes to the City

Rosa, a baby elephant is terribly unhappy as she lives all alone in her cage at the zoo. A chance escape gives her the freedom to explore the city and raise a bit of havoc! When the zoo keeper finds her, he realizes she would be best living with other elephants in the freedom of a

Enchanting Christmas Stories

1. The First Christmas

The star of Bethlehem recounts how, on the first Christmas Eve, the angels came and requested him to shine with all his brightness to lead the three kings through the desert to meet baby Jesus.

2. The Elves and the Shoemaker

A poor cobbler and his wife are aided by two elves who, during the nights, secretly craft several exquisite pairs of shoes. Soon, they become quite well known in town for their innovative designs. In the true spirit of the season, they show their thanks and appreciation by stitching the elves warm clothing and a pair of shoes for Christmas.

3. Santa's Christmas

Oh, no, the usual hustle and bustle of preparing presents is gone as Santa has fallen ill! Children come to visit and offer him gifts, proving the true meaning of Christmas is wrapped up in love and kindness.

Heartwarming Stories

1. The Greatest Treasure

Peter stumbles upon a treasure map and decides to seek it out, meeting several animals along the way who join him on his quest. Together, they defy the obstacles in their way, find the prize and realize that the greatest treasure of all is friendship.

2. Tucket the Bucket

Tucket, a gardener's favorite bucket, develops a hole, is tossed aside and rusts after a rainstorm. One day, a little girl discovers him, cleans the rust off and places a rose plant inside. Tucket takes care of the rose bud, making him the happiest bucket in the world.

3. The Little Pianist

Azul loves to play the piano and practices regularly. His piano teacher confuses him one day when she asks him to play from his heart for the upcoming recital. How can you play piano with your heart and not your fingers?

Sing and Learn English, Spanish & More Spanish

Learn a Language through songs!

Music and songs have often played an important role in the educational development of young children. And with the growing importance and relevance of knowing a second language, particularly Spanish, in today's multicultural society, it's never been a more crucial time to learn.

Proven to teach Spanish and English the fun & easy way.

Sing and Learn is an engaging and effective tool, whether teaching a second language—in this case, Spanish—or preserving it as a native language at home. Developed by Agnes Chavez, a language expert, teacher and producer of Spanish DVDs, the DVDs have been proven to teach Spanish to children the fun and easy way. Children are constantly exposed to multicultural rhythms from around the world and Sing and Learn capitalizes on that, bringing Salsa, Cumbia and Ranchera music to life in these videos while showing youngsters engaged in fun, everyday activities.

Mandarin Chinese Language Program

Watch, Listen & Learn

Finally, a DVD language course for children that goes beyond the simple greetings, colors and numbers. After School Chinese (Chinese for Children in Chinese) will help children of all ages become proficient in conversational Mandarin Chinese while also learning about Chinese culture. The host, Donald Holder, an American teacher living in China, encourages and engages the viewers to understand the contexts of each situational dialogue. With the After School Chinese Language Course, children learn to speak conversational Chinese by watching, listening and repeating how Chinese children speak in authentic settings and real-life situations. Children will begin speaking Chinese with the very first lesson! Each level comes with 8 DVD Lessons, 2 Audio CD, a student book in simplified Chinese characters, romanized pinyin & English translation and a parent/teacher Guide. Additional Book or Book with 2 Audio CD are sold separately. For Chinese teachers, we have created Chinese dialogues only DVD called Chinese for Children (ASCT210) with all 56 dialogues in Chinese. ### Looking for a Mr. Kim in Seoul A Guide to Korean Expressions

Christopher Torchia & Sang-Hun Choe

Expressions show how closely language and culture are linked; even if you know the individual meanings of each word, you probably will not be able to understand the entire expression unless you truly know the culture.

Looking for a Mr. Kim in Seoul is an in-depth look at Korean idioms that details origins and usage, with explanations of famous characters, myths and culture throughout Korea's long history.

It is the work of two Associated Press journalists who have spent years writing daily news stories about conflict, elections and diplomacy on the Korean Peninsula. After writing so much about current events, they wanted to explain Korea in a different way, through its language and its various expressions.

This book contains over 800 expressions organized into 14 themes. Paperback, 6" x 9", 256 pages

Reviews from Amazon.com

Celebrating Chinese New Year: An Activity Book is an engaging tool for introducing a lively yet generally unfamiliar cultural event to children. Clear, child-oriented information about Chinese New Year customs is interspersed with charming hands-on projects... Straightforward graphics and text richly convey that a spirit of family closeness and a respect for tradition mark this holiday. Through a range of activities, from simple to sophisticated, a poignant awareness of an earlier time and way of thought is also transmitted. An excellent resource for schools and groups that want to foster cultural understanding!

Fun with Chinese Characters 1, 2 and 3

Fun with Chinese Characters makes learning Chinese Characters entertaining and memorable!

Chinese is one of the oldest written languages. Because the characters are pictographic versus alphabetical, one must memorize over three thousand characters to be considered literate in China.

Learning Chinese characters is now fun! Using humorous cartoons this series of books will enable the reader to link characters to their original basic pictograms. Every page contains all the essential information you need to learn a Chinese character: the origin (etymology) of a character, its definition and an entertaining illustration by cartoonist Tan Huay Peng and more.

Knowing the origin greatly simplifies the recognition the characters. Children and adults alike will love the cartoons which are often comical and clever. An example is the character for goodness. This character is formed by the union of the character for woman and child. Once the association is made, it becomes very easy to remember the meaning. Examples of how the character is used in compound phrases are offered. First volume contains an in-depth introduction on the genesis of the characters. The third volume contains index of all 480 characters and their location.
